Emergency Response Resources

This section contains general agency resource information for emergency services, law enforcement, and medical services within the community.

Those organizations/businesses listed in this guide are under no obligation to make their resources available. They made the information available in an effort to facilitate the coordination of efforts during any emergency event, and it is to be used only in that capacity.

This section also lists additional planning, training, and response resources available from outside agencies and organizations.

For information on managing resources and volunteers, see the Kenai Peninsula Borough Emergency Operations Plan

For Volunteer Request Form and Volunteer Registration Form, see Appendix A.

Purchasing and Contracting Authorization

When the EOC is activated, IMT personnel may work through the appropriate channels to request resources. Any goods or services purchased must be approved by the IC or designated EOC official with "signing authority." Purchases that are made outside of this system may not be reimbursable and would therefore become the personal responsibility of the person/department making the purchase.

Title 6 of the Seward City Code represents the City's "Purchasing, Contracts, and Professional Services" ordinances. As it pertains to emergencies, SCC 6.10.120 exempts from the competitive sealed bid and alternate procurement procedures, purchases "Where an emergency makes the delay incident to competitive bidding unreasonable." (SCC 6.10.120(a)(2). Further, SCC 6.10.120(a)3 makes a purchase exempt "Where an emergency makes the delay incident to the procedures for rejecting a low bid set out in 6.10.140 unreasonable." Emergency purchases should be reported to the City Council at their next regularly scheduled meeting, whenever possible.

Federal Reimbursement for Equipment Costs

The Stafford Act includes provisions for how FEMA will reimburse municipalities, states, and private entities for equipment and labor used during an emergency response. 44 CFR 226.228 describes the general policies for determining allowable costs. In accordance with the federal regulations, the Department of Homeland Security publishes a reimbursable rate schedule for equipment in good working order. These rates are applicable to major disasters and emergencies declared by the president on or after August 2005.

The schedule is available at

Resource Index

This table summarizes local resource availability, and indicates the types of resources that each source may be able to provide. NO contracts or agreements have been made between these entities and the City of Seward. Following this index is a complete set of resource sheets from each source, listing resource information in detail.

An asterisk (*) indicates that a contract is in place. Contracts are updated annually. All are managed by the fire department with the exception of emergency debris removal, which is managed by the Engineering Executive Assistant in the Engineering & Building Dept.

See the resource page in Appendix F for each listed organization for more information.
