The Interconnection Application Procedures and general Permit requirements are addressed in the City of Seward Code Section 14.15.415, Interconnection Requirements.

The Interconnection Application must be accompanied with complete documentation of the Alternate Power System equipment including but not limited to: site location, schematics; wiring diagrams; performance specifications; descriptions of energy storage devices, circuit protection equipment, regulating equipment, automatic disconnect equipment, and any other proprietary device provided by the equipment manufacturers.

For Alternative Power System facilities within the Seward city limits, the applicant must obtain and provide the documentation required for obtaining a Building Permit. Additionally, the following information will be used to help properly design the customer interconnection. This information is not intended as a commitment or contract for billing purposes.

Note: For net metering applications, the total generator size may not exceed 25KW total output, and may not be more than 1.5% of the demand per circuit.

Note: If any work is required to be performed on the system side of the meter by the City of Seward Electric Crew, then a job order must be started and those costs will be paid by the applicant.
